

The QParks-Team is looking for YOU for the best job of winter 2011/2012!

Imagine spending an awesome winter among friends, in the middle of the breathtaking sceneries of the most beautiful regions the Alps have to offer, and getting paid for it! Unbelievable? Well... not quite!

QParks, by far the biggest and most expanding snow- and terrain-park manufacturer in the Alps region, is still searching for skilled and capable employees for some of the best parks you'll find across Europe. These include for instance some of the most prestigious and renowned resorts in Austria, such as the Kitzsteinhorn, Diedamskopf, Sölden, Dachstein, Planai, Kitzbühel and many more. You may have already heard of our famous parks there, such as the Horsefeathers Superpark Dachstein, the Horsefeathers Superpark Planai, the Snowpark Gastein, the Swatch Snowpark Sölden, the DC Snowparks Kitzbühel, the Snowpark Lenzerheide in Switzerland or the Snowpark Alta Badia in Italy.

As we are constantly expanding, we are still searching for skilled "stagehands" in our regions for supporting our team. Possible occupations range from shaper to headshaper, caretaker for our bagjumps, up to park designer. To get an idea what we're talking about you can check out the QParks-teasers:

All employees will be legally registered and have the status of marginally, part time or full time employed. Shapers work at maximum of 55 hours a month and are responsible for the finetuning of the take-offs (see also QParks.com). Headshapers manage, coordinate and examine the shapings. Park designers/ Park manager coordinate and supervise the use of heavy shaping machines (Bullies and artificial snow) and eventually are fully responsible for the final product "snowpark". You do not necessarily have to have experience, though of course everything you've already done in this field is considered an asset. The most important however, is being motivation and enthusiasm for winter sports. We are concerned about offering the highest quality to both our customers and visitors; however, we never forget that our work is supposed to be fun and entertaining, wherefore the atmosphere within our team is always friendly and close. The best aspect of the job will be definitely spending an awesome winter in the snow, living in one of the most picturesque and prestigious regions of the Alps, while we will provide for your accommodation!

You love spending winter-days being out in the 'white magic' and you're confident that you are the best support our team can get? Well then, don't hesitate and convince us, we're looking forward to receiving your applications to anita@qparks.com. You are welcome to also send us some creative stuff such as videos, pictures of your perfectly shaped snowmen, whatever!

So get to work and see you up in the snow!
